

PRESIDENT NOTIFIED

Of His Nomination as the Republican Standard Bearer

BY THE CONVENTION'S COMMITTEE.

Governor McKinley's Speech a Warm Endorsement of the President and His Administration.—The President Replies Briefly but Pointedly, and will Write a Formal Letter of Acceptance.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—The committee appointed to notify the President of his renomination arrived at Washington this morning. At about 1 o'clock the committee proceeded to the executive mansion. There were about two hundred guests assembled in the simply but beautifully decorated East room of the White House when at 1 o'clock the notification committee entered by the west door and rapped themselves in a semi-circle, Governor McKinley being the keystone of the arch. A few moments later the President, leaning on the arm of Secretary Foster and followed by the other members of his cabinet, entered, and without any preliminary Governor McKinley made his brief speech, officially notifying the President of his renomination.

MCKINLEY'S SPEECH.
He spoke as follows: President Harrison: This committee, representing every state and territory in the union, are here to perform the trust committed to them by the national Republican convention, which convened at Minneapolis on June 7, 1892, of bringing you official notification of your nomination as the Republican candidate for President of the United States. We need hardly assure you of the pleasure it gives us to convey this message from the Republicans of the country to their chosen leader. Your nomination was but the registering by the convention of the will of the majority of the Republicans of the United States, and has been received in every quarter with profound satisfaction. In 1888 you were nominated, after a somewhat prolonged struggle, upon a platform which declared with clearness the purposes and policies of the party entrusted with power, and upon that platform you were elected President. You have had the good fortune to witness the execution of most of these purposes and policies during the administration of which you have been the head, and in which you have borne a conspicuous part. If there has been a failure to embody into law, any of these purposes or policies, it has been no fault of yours. Your administration has more than justified your nomination four years ago, and the confidence of the people implied by your election. After one of the most careful, successful and brilliant administrations in our history, you received a renomination, furnishing an approval of your work which must bring to you just gratification.

THE HIGHEST HONOR.
To be nominated for the second term upon the merits of his administration is the highest distinction which can come to an American President. The difficult and embarrassing questions which confronted your administration have been met with an ability, with a fidelity to duty and with a lofty patriotism which fill the American hearts with a glow of pride. Your domestic policy has been wise, broad and statesmanlike; your foreign policy firm, just and truly American.

These have won the commendation of the thoughtful and conservative and the confidence of your countrymen, irrespective of party, and will, we believe, insure your triumphant election in November. We beg to hand to you the platform of principles, unanimously adopted by the convention which placed you in nomination.

It is an American document. Protection, which shall serve the high interest of American labor and American development. Reciprocity, which while seeking the world's markets for our surplus products shall not destroy American wages or surrender American markets for products which can be made at home. Honest money, which shall rightly measure the labor and exchanges of the people and cheat nobody. Honest elections which are true foundations of all public authority. These principles constitute for the most part the platform of principles to which you have already by word and deed given your earnest approval, and of which you stand to-day the exponent and representative. Other matters treated of in the platform will have your careful consideration. I am bidden by my associates, who come from every section of the nation, to assure you of the hearty support of the harmonious and united Republican party.

In conclusion, we desire to extend to you our personal congratulations and to express our gratifications at the rare honor paid you by a renomination, with a firm faith that the destinies of this great people will be confided to your care and keeping for another four years.

The speech was delivered slowly, and at the beginning in such a low tone that it was hardly audible, but the governor's voice strengthened as he proceeded. He was warmly applauded at its close.

THE PRESIDENT'S REPLY.
The President, accepting the renomination, said: Governor McKinley and gentlemen of the committee: When four years ago on the anniversary of the declaration of our national independence, a committee designated by the Republican National Convention held in Chicago came to my home in Indianapolis to notify me of my nomination for the Presidency, my sense of gratitude, great as it was, was forced into the far background by an overwhelming sense of the responsibility of leadership in a civil contest that involved so much to my country and to my fellow citizens. I could not hope that much would be found when the record of a quiet life had been brought under the strong light of public criticism to enthrone my party followers, or upon which an assurance of adequacy for the highest civil affairs might be rested.

No one so much as I realized that the strength of the campaign must be found in Republican principles, and my hope was that nothing in life or word of mine might weaken the appeal of our American policies to the American heart. That appeal did not fail. A Republican President and Vice President of a Republican congress were chosen. The record has been made and we are now to submit it to the judgment of a patriotic people. Of my own relation to the great transactions in legislation and in administration, which must be the basis of judgment, it does not become me to speak. I gratefully accept the assurance given by the Republican state conventions and by the national convention, through you, that no charge of inadequacy or delinquency to principle has been lodged against the administration. The faithful and highly successful work done by the able heads of the executive departments, and by our representatives abroad, I desire most cordially to acknowledge and commend.

The work of the Fifty-first congress, in which you, sir, have a conspicuous and useful part, will strongly and most beneficially influence the national prosperity for generations to come. The general results of three years of Republican control have, I believe, been highly beneficial to all classes of our people. The home markets for farm products have been retained and enlarged by the establishment of great manufacturing industries, while new markets abroad of large and increasing value, long substantially closed to us, have been opened on favorable terms to our meats and breadstuffs by the removal of unjust, discriminating restrictions and by numerous reciprocal trade agreements under Section 3 of the McKinley bill. These acts of administration and legislation can now fortunately be judged by their fruits. In 1890 it was a conflict of predictions. Now our adversaries must face trade statistics and prices current. But it is not appropriate that I should at this time discuss these public questions.

I hope before long to be able by letter to convey to you a more formal acceptance of the nomination which the national Republican convention has tendered me and to give briefly my reasons for adhering to the declaration of principle adopted by the convention and which you have so admirably summarized. Will you accept, sir, for yourself and your associates upon the whole body of the great convention whose delegates you are, my profound thanks for this great honor; and will you, sir, allow me to express my most sincere appreciation of the gracious and cordial terms in which you have conveyed this message.

The President's speech was also received with enthusiasm, hearty applause following every point. At its close the members of the committee pressed forward and congratulated him on his renomination. He shook hands cordially with each member of the committee, and when all had been received, invited them to luncheon. The party proceeded to the state dining room, the President leading with Governor McKinley. Other invited guests to a considerable number followed.

BLAINE'S SORROW.

The Ex-Secretary of State Bears Up Well Under His Grief.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Ex-Secretary Blaine, Mrs. Blaine and daughter arrived in Chicago this evening to attend the funeral of Emmens Blaine. The party was met at the depot by Cyrus H. McCormick, Jr., brother of Mrs. Emmens Blaine, and James G. Blaine, Jr. On seeing his son the ex-secretary grasped his hand with affection and for a moment his face showed evidence of deep anguish. The family was then driven rapidly to the McCormick residence, at No. 135 Rush street.

"Mr. Blaine" said Cyrus McCormick, "as well as Mrs. Blaine and her daughter stood the fatigue of their long journey remarkably well. Mr. Blaine was feeling unusually well so far as his bodily health is concerned. Of course none can estimate the shock and anguish the sudden death of his son has caused him. The wonder is that the man is able to bear up at all. That he has done so is another evidence of his remarkable spirit and indomitable courage. We can only hope that when it is all over Mr. Blaine's spirit will not forsake him."

The funeral takes place at 2:30 tomorrow at Graceland cemetery.

Preston County Republican Ticket.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligence.

KINGWOOD, W. VA., June 20.—Preston county Republicans nominated the following ticket at their primary election to-day: House of delegates, H. A. Hartley and C. Hartemeyer; sheriff, Leroy Shaw; prosecuting attorney, D. M. Worthing; assessors, G. Pulliam and Wm. F. Manear; county surveyor, A. F. McMillen. The contest for sheriff was very close and Shaw's majority will be less than fifty. Worthing beats Forney about one hundred votes. About 75 per cent of the vote was out. The ticket is a very strong one.

His Own Fault.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligence.

FAIRMONT, June 20.—Notwithstanding orders and notices young men and boys will persist in climbing on the cars being switched here in the yard. Yesterday afternoon Oliver Fetter, aged about fifteen, boarded a train and was knocked off by the approach to the suspension bridge. His arm was broken, skull fractured and he was badly hurt otherwise, and there is hardly any hope of his recovery.

Lewis County Republican Ticket.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligence.

WESTON, W. VA., June 20.—The Republican convention held here to-day was a grand success. The opera house was comfortably filled and everything passed off quietly. The county ticket nominated is a strong one and means success in November.

Great Kanawha Improvements.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—The items in the river and harbor bill referring to improvements of the Great Kanawha river, and amounting to $225,000, were passed by the senate and house conference committee without change.

Returning it will leave Glendale at 8:30 p. m. Ladies and gentlemen are cordially invited. Free round trip tickets will be cheerfully furnished at the office of Erskine & Allison, 1318 Market street, on Wednesday afternoon. Please call before 5:30 p. m. At the Ohio River railroad ticket office, the tickets will cost 25 cents.

A CLEVELAND VICTORY.

Ex-Postmaster Harrity, of Philadelphia, Wins His Point.

THE PENNSYLVANIA DELEGATION

Will Vote as a Unit for Cleveland.

The Wallace Faction Laid Out—It is Intimated That the Unit Rule May Be Brought Before the Convention, When a Warm Fight May Be Confidently Anticipated.

CHICAGO, June 20.—A signal victory for the Cleveland forces was fought and won to-day almost without the firing of a gun. It was on the question of the unit rule, and the battle ground was the Pennsylvania delegation. The talk before the Pennsylvanians went into caucus was that a strong effort was to be made to break the unit rule in the Keystone state and that upon the result of the fight in Pennsylvania would largely hinge the course to be pursued in other delegations where similar conditions existed. Rumors were current that State Senator Wallace would lead the opponents of the unit rule, and when the meeting got under way Wallace was for the moment the cynosure of all eyes.

National Committeeman Harrity was equally well understood to be the probable champion of the Cleveland men and the adherents of the policy of Pennsylvania's vote plumped solidly. Little time was lost. W. U. Hensel was elected chairman without opposition; the appointment of a committee of five to confer with other state delegations was authorized and in quick succession O. W. Ross was chosen to represent Pennsylvania in the platform committee, H. A. Hall to serve on the credentials committee, George A. Jenks on rules, A. A. Plummer on organization, George Robinson as vice president and P. J. Cochran on the committee to notify candidates of nomination. The battle royal was now anxiously awaited and there was a hush of expectancy when the Harrity forces instead of waiting for an attack assaulted the enemy full tilt. State Senator Grant Herring, one of the Cleveland delegates-at-large, gained the floor and threw down the gauntlet to the Wallace contingent by offering the following:

Resolved, That the chairman of the Pennsylvania delegation instruct to cast the whole vote of the delegation of Pennsylvania for Grover Cleveland as the nominee for President of the United States, until nominated or otherwise instructed.

The anti-rule men rallied quickly. John T. Lenahan, of Luzerne, a close friend of Senator Wallace, promptly moved to amend by substituting the name of Governor Pattison, of Pennsylvania, for that of Cleveland.

Committeeman Harrity in a short but forcible speech earnestly protested against the amendment. He declared it would be bad faith to the state convention which they represented and which had expected them to vote for Cleveland. This, Mr. Harrity insisted, implied no hostility to Governor Pattison. There was considerable cheering, and when Harrity sat down the anti's seemed hesitant. The unit rule men seemed to realize that they had the upper hand and demanded a roll call. This was sought to be avoided by the Lawrence men but the chairman ruled that the call must proceed and without delay. The anti's had cleverly attempted to bulwark themselves behind Pattison's name, but now appeared to realize that there was little hope; and, although they claimed sixteen votes in the delegation, scarcely a quarter of that number, when the pinch came, were ready to toe the mark. Wallace, himself declined to vote either way and the amendment was lost. The vote by which Grover Cleveland was thus guaranteed the votes of Pennsylvania stood fifty-eight to four, the minority consisting of Wallace and Lenahan and the Twenty-eighth district delegates, Smolter and Collins. The announcement of the result was greeted with derisive laughter and cat calling by the Cleveland men who at once proceeded to reelect their leader Harrity as the national committeeman from Pennsylvania. The election was by acclamation and was declared unanimous.

An amused smile swept over Harrity's face. The caucus at this time adjourned. "Yes," he said, "I have heard intimations that the fight against the unit rule is to be transferred to the floor of the convention. If it is, I can only say that we are ready to meet it. Senator Wallace, I understand, has been to see a number of the anti-Cleveland leaders of other states and apprise them of such a plan, but I am also informed that the proposition was not any too well received. One of the most prominent of these leaders, one who occupies a high official position in the party organization, admitted to me that he did not believe the move would amount to much, if anything."

Mr. Harrity would neither deny nor affirm that the information came from Chairman Calvin S. Brice.

ILLINOIS FOR CLEVELAND.

General Palmer Requests the Delegation to Vote Solid for Grover.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The Illinois delegation will be solid with its forty-eight votes for Grover Cleveland. There is no longer any reasonable doubt upon this point, and the effect of the announcement has been to send Cleveland stock booming skyward to-day. Early this morning General John M. Palmer, for whom the Illinois delegation is instructed for the presidency, had an extended conference with various members of the Illinois delegation at the Sherman House, and made known his wishes that Cleveland should receive the solid forty-eight votes of the Prairie State.

"I think I can state with considerable assurance that Illinois will vote for Cleveland," said he to the Associated Press at the conclusion of this conference. "I have said to my friends to-day that the Democratic state convention of Illinois declared substantially, though not in direct terms, that Mr. Cleveland was the first choice of the people of the state of Illinois, and in effect instructed the delegation to vote for Cleveland, since the instructions for me were only to be effective in the event that it was deemed expedient to come west for a presidential candidate. As this was understood at the time, and my friends joined with me in favoring a declaration that only in case the presidential candidacy should come from the west should the delegation support me."

It was rumored during the day that after the withdrawal of Palmer from the Presidential contest the friends of Colonel Morrison had begun urging the Illinois delegation to turn to him as their candidate instead of to Cleveland. Inquiry among the friends of Colonel Morrison in the delegation resulted in a firm and indignant denial of this rumor. "Colonel Morrison's friends are for Cleveland on the first ballot, and everybody ought to know it," said Senator Farmer, who is one of the Morrison men of Illinois. "There is no movement in favor of Morrison at this time, and never will be unless Mr. Cleveland should be defeated."

TAMMANY TALKS.

An Official Utterance That Says Cleveland Cannot Carry New York.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Tammany is given much to shouting, but little to talking. To-night, however, they concluded that the claims of the Cleveland literary bureau merited some rebuke and issued the following official notice:

ROOMS OF THE NEW YORK STATE DELEGATION, CHICAGO, JUNE 20, 1892.

In reply to inquiries addressed to us by delegates from states instructed to vote for Mr. Grover Cleveland, of New York, the delegates of New York, with a dense sense of responsibility to the Democracy of the United States, are constrained to make answer that in our best judgment Mr. Cleveland's nomination would imperil the success of the party, and would expose it to the loss of the electoral vote of the state.

EDWARD MURPHY, JR., Chairman.

Gray Is Not In It.

CHICAGO, June 20.—One of the surprises of the day was the statement of Mr. Taggart, the committeeman from Indiana, that the 30 votes of that state would be cast for Cleveland on the first ballot, and that Governor Gray's name would not be brought before the convention by Senator Voorhees or by anybody else. "I have just left Senator Voorhees," said Mr. Taggart, "and we have talked over the whole situation. He is convinced that it would not be a friendly act to introduce Governor Gray's name, and I think that he has made up his mind to advise the governor to that effect. Of course this position is a delicate one, and you must see him himself for any statement about his position."

Cleveland Will Have a Wire.

BUZZARD'S BAY, MASS., June 20.—Grover Cleveland and his charming little family are enjoying life at their beautiful home, Grey Gables. The ticking of the telegraph is to be heard at Grey Gables this week, for both companies have offered to run a wire from the railway and to install an operator in the house, but otherwise the distinguished occupants of the mansion will remain undisturbed by the clamor of political factions.

Bayard Arrives.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Ex-Secretary of State Bayard, of Delaware, and Senator Gray, of Delaware, arrived last night. Senator Gray said that he found an overwhelming Cleveland sentiment was prevalent. Secretary Bayard will probably second the name of Cleveland.

Kentucky's Delegation.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., June 20.—The Kentucky delegation passed through here at midnight. A poll of the delegation was taken on the train, showing 18 votes for Cleveland and the remainder scattering.

RECIPROCITY WITH CANADA.

The President Advises Retaliation on the Dominion for Her Action.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—In a state paper sent to the senate to-day in answer to a resolution of February 24 last, calling for information relative to reciprocity negotiations with Canada the President sounds the death knell of that project and plants a mile post in American history by deliberately in effect recommending that Congress proceed to retaliate upon the Dominion for its persistent denial of the rights of American citizens, guaranteed by the treaty of Washington in connection with the navigation of Canadian canals.

Away from Home to Hear the News.

PARIS, June 20.—A telegram received from a high source in the U. S. states that President Harrison will appoint Mr. Chancey M. Depew American Minister to England, and that Mr. Robert T. Lincoln, the present incumbent of the office will be recalled to fill the position of secretary of state, resigned recently by Mr. James G. Blaine.

Fail to Do Our Duty.

Everybody has at times failed to do their duty towards themselves. Hundreds of lady readers suffer from sick headache, nervousness, sleeplessness, and female troubles. Let them follow the example of Mrs. H. Herbecher, Stevens Point, Wis., who for five years suffered greatly from Nervous Prostration and sleeplessness, tried physicians and different medicines without success. But one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine caused sound sleep every night, and she is feeling like a new person. Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler, Laramie City, Wyoming, who tried all other remedies, declares that after three weeks' use of the Nervine for Headache, Nervous Prostration, etc., she was entirely relieved. Lot Sale at Glendale!

TUESDAY, JUNE 23, 1892.

Beautiful, high lying land. Most of the lots 100 by 175 feet, some much larger. Three parks. Ample streets, made very large in effect by established building lines. Good neighbors and no crowding. Many shade trees, and more to be set out. Electric light assured. Poles, wire and other materials already ordered. Cheap railroad rates. Nine trains each way daily. Health, comfort and economy in buying and building at Glendale.

This is not a boom movement, nor is this a time to be booming real estate. It is the time for purchasers to secure bargains. Examine the property, its improvements and its surroundings. Notice the march of improvement southward along the river. There is no other place within reach of Wheeling as beautiful as Glendale, or as certain to grow in value and attractiveness. Remember the day of sale and be there.
